

P I N K
T A R T A N

HELLO!

7 APRIL 2008

CANADA'S HOTTEST DESIGNERS RULE AT L'OREAL FASHION WEEK
JOE FRESH & PINK TARTAN BOOKEND THE 2008 FALL/WINTER SHOWS

From left: Greta Constantine's designs glide along the runway at Toronto's Circa nightclub. Pink Tartan, Andy Thè-Anh, David Dixon and Joe Fresh hit the catwalk at Nathan Phillips Square.

Canadian designers came out rocking with clean, hard-edged designs for fall/winter 2008 at this month's L'Oréal Fashion Week. Coats made a predictably strong showing, with a standout being Greta Constantine's geometric ruffle interpretation. Crowd-pleaser Pink Tartan's "pristine punk" was anchored with Doc Martens boots. Andy Thè-Anh offset diaphanous gowns with black belts and chunky chest-spanning necklaces. David Dixon contrasted cold charcoal-grey with hot magenta pieces, while Joe Fresh, the first show of the week, embraced a "more downtown" look with an equestrian feel, worn best by supermodel Coco Rocha. H

For more on L'Oréal Fashion Week, check out our video coverage and photo gallery at hellomagazine.ca

